1 Reading A class trip Read the story.

Class 8E and their teacher Mr Foster were in Whitby. It's a town in England near the sea. It was a class trip. The weather was nice and at about one o'clock the pupils had a picnic near the sea. After the picnic Mr Foster said: "OK. We're going to the church on the hill." "That church there?" Adam complained. "It's miles, Sir!" "It isn't miles, Adam," Mr Foster said. "We're going to meet a guide at the church at two o'clock. Come on. Let's go."

Mr Foster and the class climbed the hill. It was a big hill and everyone was tired. The guide was near the church on the top of the hill. "This is Olivia, our guide," Mr Foster said. "Hello and welcome to Whitby church," Olivia said. "Churches are boring and I'm tired," Adam said to his friend Ryan. "Churches are boring, right?" Olivia said. Everybody laughed. "This church isn't boring," Olivia said. "I'm going to tell you a story about Whitby church." Olivia had a small bag. In the bag she had a book. "Do you know this book?" Olivia asked. Adam looked at the book. "It's Dracula" he said. "Yes, that's right," Olivia said. "One day, a man was here at Whitby church. The man lived in Whitby and his name was Bram Stoker. He sat just here. The church was very quiet. Suddenly Mr Stoker had a great idea. Dracula! "I'm going to write a book about vampires," he thought. And he wrote the book in his house here in Whitby." "Wow!" Adam said. "I like Whitby church. It's cool!"
