2 READING A class visit to the Atlanta History Museum

The Atlanta History Center is a museum with many buildings and gardens that shows visitors what life in Georgia was like in the past. There are exhibitions about the Civil War in the 1860s and the life of Native American Indians before Europeans arrived in America. There is also a whole museum about the 1996 Olympics that took place in Atlanta.

5 Here are three special tours you and your class can do at the museum.

I. The Black Phoenix Tour

This tour teaches school classes about the African American experience in Atlanta from the time of slavery to the present day.

You'll go on a tour of Tullie Smith Farm which once had 11 slaves.

10 The Shaping Traditions Exhibition is inside the museum. Here you'll learn about the way of life African slaves brought to America and tried to teach to their children.

You'll also learn how the Civil War changed the slaves' lives and how African Americans are part of Atlanta's business and cultural life today.

The tour is available from Tuesday – Friday for kindergarten children and students up to grade 12.

15 This tour is 2.5 hours long.

Cost per student is $6. Each group of 10 students should be joined by one teacher.

II. Who was here first? Native Americans in Georgia

On this tour, students learn about the first people who lived in Georgia.

Many Indian tribes lived in Georgia before the Europeans came to America.

20 The tour will take your class through the Quarry Garden where you can learn about the plants Native Americans used for food, medicine and even for fishing!

Inside the museum you can see many beautiful Native American objects, and you'll have the chance to make things the way Georgian Indians once did.

This tour is available from Tuesday–Friday for kindergarten children and students up to grade 8.

25 The tour is 2 hours long.

Cost per student is $6. Each group of 10 students should be joined by one teacher.

Students will be outside a lot of the time, so please dress warmly.

This tour is not available during the months of December, January and February.

III. The World comes to Atlanta

30 Remember the glory of the 1996 Olympic Games while exploring the Centennial Olympic Games Museum. Students learn about the origin of the modern Olympic Games, the 100 years leading up to the Atlanta games, and why Atlanta was chosen as the right place for the 1996 Olympic Games. An interactive game tests students' knowledge of the Olympics and the tour ends with a visit to the Sports Lab where students participate in Olympic events including the long jump, cycling and rowing. This 35 tour incorporates geography, economics, mathematics and science.

This tour is available from Tuesday–Friday for kindergarten children and students up to grade 12.

The tour is 2 hours long.

Cost per student is $6. Each group of 10 students should be joined by one teacher.

3 READING The Georgia Aquarium

The Georgia Aquarium in Atlanta opened its doors to visitors on November 21st, 2005. The building looks like a very large ship breaking through waves. It is the world's largest aquarium as some of these figures show.

The Georgia Aquarium has 30.66 million liters of fresh and salt water. All that water has to be cleaned every day. And the temperature has to be checked carefully because the animals that live in the water need the same temperature all the time.

There are 120,000 animals swimming around in the Georgia Aquarium. You can see 9,000 animals in the Berlin Aquarium and 14,300 animals in the Hagenbeck Aquarium in Hamburg.

Many of the animals were brought to Atlanta, Georgia, on special planes all the way from Taiwan, and it cost more than $ 200,000 to bring the animals to the USA.

The most famous animals at the Georgia Aquarium are four whale sharks, three Beluga whales and one manta ray.

The whale sharks arrived in Atlanta in 2007. Today, Taiwan no longer allows whale sharks to be caught and taken to aquariums. So the Georgia Aquarium is the only place outside of Asia to show whale sharks. These very special animals swim in 23.84 million liters of water, which is almost 78 % of the water in the whole aquarium!

The aquarium has been a huge success since day one. In less than one hundred days, the aquarium had already welcomed its one millionth visitor. About a year later, the five millionth visitor came to the aquarium.

The Georgia Aquarium is open 365 days a year.

Sunday–Friday: 10 am–5 pm and on Saturdays: 9 am–6 pm. But opening hours sometimes change, so it's better to check the Georgia Aquarium website before you plan your visit.

Tickets for the Georgia Aquarium are the most expensive in the United States. It costs $ 26 dollars for adults and $ 19.50 for children to visit the aquarium.

The aquarium also has special programs for school groups and offers visitors the chance to celebrate parties at the aquarium and even spend the night!

For $ 75–$ 100 you can sleep over at the world's largest aquarium. The ticket price includes the entry ticket to the aquarium before and after the sleepover, dinner, a bed, breakfast and special tours after the aquarium is closed for the day. One of these tours is a trip on the Ocean Voyager. You will be on a boat above the exhibit and will be able to look down at the whale sharks from above. After that you will sleep right next to the aquarium's exhibits! All you need to bring is a sleeping bag, your teddy bear and a toothbrush!
